CONCEPT

MUSICAL / CULTURAL / HISTORICAL / SOCIAL

« BY INFUSING A CLASSICAL MUSIC VEHICLE, SUCH AS AN ORATORIO, WITH REGGAE, POP, GOSPEL AND JAZZ-INFLUENCED SONGS, I AM BRINGING PEOPLE TOGETHER BY TEARING DOWN THE BARRIERS BETWEEN "CLASSICAL" MUSIC AND "POPULAR" MUSIC. I ALSO WISH TO RAISE THE CONSCIOUSNESS OF YOUNGER GENERATIONS ON THIS MAJOR 20TH CENTURY PEACE MESSENGER, WHO FOUGHT EPIC BATTLES AND SACRIFICED HIS LIFE SO THAT WE CAN ALL LIVE IN A MORE EQUAL AND JUST SOCIETY. I HOPE THAT THIS PIECE WILL HELP PEOPLE TO OPEN UP THEIR HEARTS ».

John Meldrum

PEACE ORATORIO celebrates the life of Martin Luther King and a vision of the world where we can live and sing together in "Peace, Freedom and Justice". It unites communities and generations singing a powerful message of brotherhood. It promotes diversity and fights discrimination through music.

This project incorporates an educational element with John Meldrum's participation in music classes and recreation centers in elementary schools and junior high schools that allows young people to discover singing while making rhythm, participating and having fun while learning English. The story of Peace Oratorio is dedicated to raising consciousness of citizenship in a just society by teaching about the Civil Rights movement from the '50's and '60's in the USA and using this knowledge to fight against all forms of discrimination today and in the future.

The PEACE ORATORIO by John Meldrum is a cycle of compositions for 10 soloists, choir, string orchestra, French horn, trumpet and a band (acoustic, electric and classical guitars, drums, stand up and electric bass, percussion, Hammond Organ and Fender Rhodes).

17 songs based on themes progressing from oppression to despair and finally hope. The guiding thread is a narrative based on the life and work of Martin Luther King.

BIOGRAPHY JOHN MELDRUM

/ Guitarist
/ Singer - Songwriter
/ Composer
/ Choirmaster
/ Music Teacher

John Meldrum is putting all his talents together to create his most ambitious work, PEACE ORATORIO, performed in October 2012 on the stage of the Alhambra theater in Paris and broadcast in part on the French national radio France Culture.

Originally from Cleveland, Ohio, John Meldrum did a five year stint in the jingle business there but grew tired of the relentlessness of advertising music, so he left America in search of something else, a different way to live. John won second prize in the Billboard song contest with the instrumental Samba del Mar in 1989, but upon seeing Paris for the first time, he fell in love with the City of Lights, and his life was never the same.

He started working in Paris playing Highlife music with Fredua Ageymang, a superb Ghanaian drummer and songwriter. John played rhythm guitar and sang with him for 5 years, the influence of this experience was to play a large role later on. In 1993/94, John wrote and recorded his first album No rules here (Melmuse). As the title suggests, the disc holds to no particular style, but explores the range of his talents in a variety of settings : rock, pop, jazz and classical guitar.

In 1995 he put together his group, Zongo Ambassadors and recorded the album Ayijah (Melmuse/Night and Day), which ranges from Highlife to pop and gospel. John's song, « Brother, Brother » was performed with 650 children from 27 countries at the UNESCO auditorium in Paris. Along the way, John was lucky enough to meet Carlos Santana, Salif Keita, Cheick Tidiane Seck, Tony Allen, Flea, Daymon Albarn, Max Roach, Jacques Higelin, Jean-Philippe Rykiel and Nana Danso and Madeleine Peyroux. Produced by Pierre-Jean Gaucher, the French Jazz guitarist and composer, Long Live Love was John's latest album in 2006 with concerts in Paris, London and the USA.

John created his choir John Meldrum and the Soulways in 1999, and they now perform as « John Meldrum and the Highlites ». John is also a singing teacher and music group coach at the ATLA school of modern music in Paris.

John received his first commission in 2009 to celebrate the 15th anniversary of the choir festival Voix sur Berges. He composed a 13 minute work in Latin, French and English entitled « The River of Love » with over 200 singers and 6 musicians. His music is featured in the documentary «GrandPa Was a Freedom Rider» by the young French film maker Martial Buisson.

He has also written and produced the album «Indiana» by French-Italian singer Julie Cavalieri.

SYNOPSIS

After a narrative and instrumental prelude, the first song « Peace, Freedom, Justice » opens the show with a sort of Mantra of the Oppressed, a theme that reappears with the Gospel and Negro Spiritual flavours in « Down To The River » and « Talk To The Angels ».

« Yaweh » gives hope for better days. In the darkness of the night, Michael Robinson personifies the fighting spirit and the courage of Martin Luther King's struggle in « I'll Be There With You » whereas the song « United We Stand » extols universal love and the unity of different peoples the world over. Julie Cavalieri follows accompanied by an ensemble of strings with the exotic sounds of « Fertila » before leaving her place to the sublime Natalie Baer-Gond, who interprets the reggae influenced « Cover Me ».

Act 2 begins with the euphoric « Happy Feet » which celebrates in a catchy High Life rhythm the victorious march on Washington for civil rights in August 1963.

« Forever Free » is a lyrical variation on Martin Luther King's famous speech « I Have A Dream ». The poetic ballad « Walking A Wounded » invites the follower to keep reaching on the painful path to freedom whereas « Jezebel And The Infidel » stages Martin Luther King's assassination with accents of ancient Greek tragedy.

Portia Solani Manyike marks this moment in « Long Live The King » with an uplifting South African influenced dance that is energized by the magnificent Djembé solo performed by percussionist Patrick Gorce.

The Polyson choir celebrates the heart-breaking farewell of « Now They Belong To The Ages » interpreted by Cy Plotel who seems to be an angel of reconciliation...

The cycle concludes on the vision of a fraternal world heralded by the song « Brother Brother » with John Meldrum.

« Big City Of Peace » closes Act 2 in a burst of fraternal energy and joy.
